Professional Licensure Disclosures

Interactive College of Technology is unaware that any of our programs require professional licenses outside of the state of Georgia and Kentucky. Each U.S. state and territory defines its own requirements for licensing and certification in professional fields. Additional information on licensure requirements will be added as it becomes available.

Prior to enrolling in an educational program that requires licensure, students should contact the program coordinator or department chair to determine if the academic program curriculum satisfies a particular state's licensure requirements if you intend to practice outside of the state of Georgia. Students interested in a professional licensure or certification are also encouraged to contact the state's licensing board regarding its requirements for professional practice prior to enrolling in an educational program.
